REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

A Busy Week Among Real Estate Men—Home Builders Coming in Rapidly

The condition of the realty market for the past ten days is very satisfactory from the dealer's point of view. The number of strangers visiting Glendale, Tropico and vicinity, seems to increase daily now that the weather is such as to lure people into the country and the suburban towns.

The three new brick blocks in Glendale are progressing rapidly. The Wright building on Fourth street, near Brand will probably be ready for occupancy in thirty days. The two store-rooms have been let, one to R. Paulson of Los Angeles, who will open a gent's furnishing and shoe store, and the other to a Los Angeles concern for gas apparatus and fixtures. On the southwest corner of Fourth and Brand, Mr. Flower is putting in fixtures preparatory to opening a first-class confectionery, ice cream and soda water establishment which will be carried on by his sons. He has had a number of opportunities to rent the fine corner room for other purposes but was desirous of getting a business in it which would keep open at night and add cheerfulness and light to that corner.

The Co-operative Building Co. of Los Angeles propose to erect from 25 to 30 houses in West Glendale, west of the steam laundry, and has already shipped out six carloads of lumber over the Salt Lake road as a starter. They expect to send out twenty carloads altogether.

C. H. Darling, Oak Street, west of Pacific, a $1500 cottage; C. H. Castle, Cedar street, between Third and Fourth, on a lot bought this week of F. W. McIntyre, a $1500 residence; Wm. McCarroll on Eagle Rock road east of the city limits, is erecting a residence that will cost about $2500. The stone work in foundations and porch will be an attractive feature, the stone being selected and hauled by Mr. McCarroll from Tejunja.

Parker and Sternberg have put through the biggest deal in realty that has recently been made in Glendale. This is the sale of the Glendalia Park tract, lying between First and Second streets and extending from Central to Mary street. The sale comprises about sixty lots of the original subdivision, a large number having been previously sold and improved. The purchasers are Messrs. Smith and McLaughlin of Los Angeles. It is understood that the purchase price is about $36,000.

The same firm reports the sale of four lots on Orange street between First and Second, three houses will be erected upon them soon. Three business lots on the west side of Brand boulevard adjoining Mr. Flower's property. Two lots in the McNutt tract, corner of Mary and Doran streets; also a ranch property on the San Fernando road near Burbank.

Mr. Jos. Kirkby has made sale of a lot on Chestnut street, Lomita Park. Elias Ayers has sold to the Ganahl Lumber Co. and E. W. Pack, a lot on Glendale avenue adjoining the lumber yard on the south and also one in the rear, both of which will be used for an extension of the lumber yards.

James Wyvell reports the following through his Casa Verdugo office: John Wyvell to Geo. W. Wheeler, lot on corner Randolph street and Brand boulevard, having a frontage on Brand boulevard of 50 feet and 225 on Randolph street.

James Wyvell to J. E. Rockhold, lot on Burchett street just west of Central avenue, size 50x116. Mr. Rockhold is building a nice 5-room bungalow on above lot.

H. C. Decker to Geo. W. Wheeler, two lots on Brand boulevard, just north of Randolph street, each 50x225.

The condition of the market is indicated by the fact that there are a large number of subdivisions being made and in contemplation. Merritt

Lynch, on the south side of Tenth street east of Adams is subdividing a ten-acre tract into one-acre lots.

C. G. Edmonds on Fifth street, between Verdugo road and Childs tract line, is splitting his 100-foot lots in half, fronting on Fifth street.

A. S. Dodge has subdivided his Verdugo road tract below Fourth street and has sold an acre off the west end.

A block of land at the corner of Fourth street and Remington is to be subdivided at once; this will result in opening Remington street from Fourth street to the West Glendale school house. This is known as lot 2 of the Des Moines tract. The Aaron Wolf property, corner of Park avenue and Brand, is being platted.

Eagle Rock is moving towards Glendale rapidly. Edwards and Wilkey have secured the Nelmeier tract, on the foothills where the old vineyard is and are extending that far their 50-foot boulevard from their Occidental Heights tract.

Contractor O. W. Odell has signed contract with Allen C. Ady to erect a 2-room bungalow at the corner of Doran and Mary streets.

Builder O. W. Odell has sold to Mr. Jos. L. Staegner a 5-room bungalow on Dryden street, east of Louise, in his new operation.

For the week including Thursday are in part as follows: Stanley Frantz, Fifth and Orange streets, a one-story bungalow with seven rooms, to cost $2300; E. L. Fulton, contractor.

J. A. Cole, 331 Orange street, one-story house, cost $2000.

M. P. Harrison, Third and Kenwood, story and half modern house, cost $2500.

SPORTING NEWS

Glendale City and Tropico Win.

The first double header on the Glendale baseball park was played last Saturday when Hollywood and Glendale City hooked up in the first game at 1:15 p. m. and Tropico and Fourth street grammar school played the deciding game for the cup championship at 3 p. m.

It seems Glendale City can't lose, for the team has been playing better teams each game and in Hollywood we tackled the hardest team as yet, and there won 4 to 1. The batteries for Glendale were Benson and McNutt and for Hollywood were Linton and Valdez. As Hollywood beat South Pasadena two weeks ago 4 to 3, and both teams and Santa Monica and Harvard are in the county league, it seems that Glendale City has a better team than those just named, for Glendale has beaten all of them except South Pasadena.

Mr. Valentine predicts a brilliant future for his star pitcher, Geo. Benson, and asks the fans to watch the youngster in his work, for he fanned 11 men and only allowed 4 hits against one of the heaviest hitting teams in the county league.

Tropico gave Fourth street the surprise of their lives by beating them by the close score of 9 to 6, and won the cup presented by Mr. Valentine after the game. The town is certainly patronizing the game well and a large crowd watched both games.

Owing to the necessity of using some of their baseball players for a track meet today against South Pasadena, the high school team was obliged to postpone their game with the city boys and so Colegrove fits in very nicely.

Today at 2:30 p. m. the fast team from Colegrove is to give our boys a warm argument, as they are made up of the crack players of the old Title Guarantee and Trust Co., which won nearly all games they played during their existence. Bring them on, Colegrove, and all you Glendale fans be on hand to help our boys a little in the rooting line.

Colegrove Glendale City
La Baig pitcher Benson
Miller catcher McNutt
Pentz first base Fakler
Ogden second base Flores
Hickson third base R. Goode
Speyer shortstop Roberts
Summers right field Barrager
Lyon center field Chatman

Above is a line-up of the game between Colegrove and Glendale City today at 2:30.

The Glendale boys are going through their daily practices from 9 to 11 every morning followed by a rubdown and shower. Every man able to report show up at 9 a. m. at ball grounds everyday except Sunday.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB REPRESENTED.

The opening of the King's Daughters Day nursery, conducted under the auspices of the King's Daughters Day Nursery circle, of which Mrs. Kimball is president, occurred on Friday with over two hundred and fifty guests in attendance to whom fruit, punch and tea and wafers were served.

The Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club was represented by Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Hodge and Mrs. Frank of the philanthropic committee and Mrs. Wells and Miss Frank. This committee has, through the liberality of members of the Tuesday Afternoon club and merchants, completely furnished the matron's room, and well may the club and citizens of Glendale be proud of the achievement, as aside from the crib room most daintily finished and furnished in blue and white, by Ellen Beach Yaw, in memory of her brother, Charles Yaw, there is none prettier in the building. The committee has taken the club flower, the California poppy, and the club colors, green and gold, as the keynote for the finishing and furnishing of the room. The walls are green and the ceiling deep cream. The furniture of birds eye maple and the brass of the bedstead give the golden idea, and while the beautiful modern rag rugs are in green and yellow, valance of bedspread, pillow shams and dresser cover, are stenciled with green and yellow California poppies, the work of Mrs. Hodge. For the day the room was decorated with green and gold accents and was altogether most artistic.

Hollywood's room, the chamber of peace for the reception of sick mothers is dainty and inviting in pure white.

The reception hall, artistically furnished in green and brown, is the gift of the South Pasadena King's Daughters.

From the opening of this day nursery, fifteen years ago, when the Rev. Mr. Finley gave the use of one room in Bethlehem chapel with three children, to the present commodious, perfectly equipped building, where fifty children are now cared for, the change is great—and Mrs. Kimball who has labored so efficiently and Mrs. Turnbull, who has been matron during the whole time, are to be congratulated.

Mr. J. M. Freeman, of the Boulevard Barber Shop and Cigar store, has been appointed deputy county clerk for the registration of voters.

Prof. Handley, who occupies the chair of philosophy in Occidental college, is well known in the city of Los Angeles for his work in the good government cause, and was heard by

GLENDALE, CAL., MARCH 5, 1910

Glendale and vicinity is a discouraging section for the pessimist in search of an excuse for existence these days of growth and glorious weather.

Los Angeles is following in the wake of Glendale in regard to a dog ordinance. Pay dog now found at large on the streets of that village without a muzzle, is subject to sudden death.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and Mrs. Clarence Mackay, leaders respectively of the "Political Equality Association" and the "Equal Franchise Society" in New York City, are making faces at each other in a manner that suggests sanguinary possibilities. They have paid lobbyists in Albany and are bound to have the franchise, even if they have to pay for it!

We have been compelled to turn over to a collection agency a small list of delinquent subscribers whom we seemed unable to reach otherwise. The majority of these delinquents are, we are convinced, merely careless in their methods and do not realize that the newspaper publisher has bills of his own to pay and depends for the "wherewith" upon the small amounts due him from a great many people. They do not all understand either in every case that the continued taking from the postoffice or the carrier of a newspaper, legally binds them to pay for it. Aside from a few personal friends to whom we send the paper, this publication is not furnished gratis, nor is it our desire to distribute it on a charitable basis, however beneficial to the world the reading of it may be.

THE COMING ELECTION.

Under the petition system of nominating officials to be voted on at the municipal election, all partisanship is eliminated, and this is certainly not to be regretted, as partisanship should not be allowed to enter into local affairs. Nominating by petition does away with any necessity for a caucus or a "town meeting." There is one condition imaginable which might make the mass meeting for the nomination of a ticket desirable, and that is a wish on the part of a considerable portion of the people to have a ticket made up of men pledged to carry out a certain line of policy in city affairs or to work for some particular object. In that event the calling of a mass meeting to form such a ticket and giving the men nominated definite instructions which they are in honor bound to obey, if elected, is quite the proper thing. Fortunately there is no burning question at present dividing our people and not likely to be. There is a wholesome general desire for good government along progressive lines—we do not intend to go backward and yet have a natural desire to have expenses kept down as low as is consistent with progress. Glendale has been fortunate in its officials so far and we believe that whoever the three men may be whom the people choose as trustees next month, they will be actuated by a desire to serve the people to the best of their ability.

OUR PRIMARY LAW.

The primary law given to the people of California by the last legislature in response to an insistent demand, is now being marked out in practice. This paper has always contended that there was no new law required to enable the people to control in political affairs; the power to do so is no more in their hands now than it always has been. They did not do their political duty under the old system and it is very doubtful if the mind of man will ever conceive a system that will induce or compel them to do it, as it is necessary it should be done in a republic. But it is still possible that the new law will have a good effect—because it is new! It does not do away with partisanship, however; on the contrary, it confirms it. Probably it will be amended by the next legislature so that it may yet be a real instrument of reform. In one way, at least, it should be amended so as to have a tendency to encourage non-partisanship in local affairs. A primary election for the purpose of forming a local ticket, should be participated in by men of all parties who do not wish to vote altogether on party lines. The prohibitionist, for instance, who while intending to support the national and congressional nominees of his party, desires to vote for what he considers to be "the best men," should be allowed a voice in the formation of the ticket for local officials. This could be accomplished by a general primary election regardless of party. Two or more tickets could be formed at such primary by selecting the names receiving the highest votes as the nominees on the first ticket, those next below forming another ticket, and so on as far as it is desirable. There is a craze abroad among the people for new laws, for the regulation of everything in, under and around the earth by statutory decree. It means that there is a wide-spread realization that many existing conditions ought to be changed, but it does not go to the extent of searching out the cause; making rather a blind effort to bring about the betterment of things without a willingness to accept the burden of individual responsibility. But this universal discontent is in itself an encouraging sign; better that than an indifference to existing wrongs.

Many voters object to the requirement of the registration law that they declare their political affiliation. This objection seems to be based upon a misunderstanding of the object of the law. The declaration of party affiliation is only intended to apply to the primary election, and as long as there are to be partisan primaries, there is no reason why they should not be protected in their partisanship by just this requirement. There will be Republican, Democratic, Prohibition and Socialist primary election. In order to be qualified to vote at any of these, it is essential that the voter should indicate when he registers, the name of the party with which he is affiliated. None but Republicans should vote at a Republican primary, none but Democrats at a Democratic primary, etc. It is only proper that when a citizen offers his ballot at one of these elections, it should be possible to learn from the registration certificate whether he is entitled to vote or not.

STRIKES AND ARBITRATION.

Today in the city of Philadelphia where for ten days past a labor strike has been going on with the usual accompaniment of all sorts of crime, from murder to petty larceny, it is expected that a "sympathetic" strike will be inaugurated which will turn nearly 100,000 men, women and children out of their usual ways of usefulness into the street, to swell the crowds of unreasoning half-crazed human beings whose only object in life for the time being, is to inaugurate a reign of terror which they believe will result in bringing a railroad company to terms. All strikes are bad enough but the "sympathetic" strike is the most inexcusable and desperately wicked of them all. It involves a great number of people who have no interest in the quarrel at issue and robs them without any compensation of their right under the constitution to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." When we say that strikes are bad, we do not assert that under existing conditions they are not sometimes justifiable as a last resort, although always working an injustice to many innocent people. As for the present trouble in Philadelphia, we do not pretend to judge between the car company and its employees. The Philadelphia Traction company has a reputation of being one of the meanest corporations in existence, and yet if this reputation is deserved it does not justify the destruction of its property and the maiming and murder of its employees. Its meanness should not deprive it of the protection of the law in carrying on its business, nor render the man whom it employs subject to violence and sudden death. That a great labor strike should be possible in a civilized country is a reflection upon the humanitarian spirit of the age and upon the vaunted wisdom of our statesmen. They are said to manage these things better in other lands than ours. Over in Australia they claim to have almost solved the great question of the relationship of capital and labor, although the proposition is not unanimously admitted. It should be possible by law to prevent these periodic outbreaks of the spirit of anarchy. The preachers and other citizens of Philadelphia are reported demanding that the question at issue between the traction company and its employees, be submitted to arbitration. But it does not always follow that justice can be secured by arbitration; the railroad company is reported as declaring that "there is nothing to arbitrate," and it is within the range of possibility that the company, notwithstanding its shortcomings, may be right. In a fight over the question of wages, it usually happens that the employer stands in a position which insures his being the loser whatever the arbitrators may decide, while the strikers always have an even chance of winning. Owing to the irresponsible character of labor organizations, a decision in favor of the employer only permits a return to conditions as they existed before the strike and does not make any compensation for losses already inflicted by it; certainly a condition which may well demand of the lover of absolute justice that he pause before invoking arbitration as a cure-all. This irresponsibility of labor organizations should not be allowed to longer exist, and the remedy is to compel them to incorporate under the laws of the state. This would give them a responsible identity. They would then be put upon a level with the capitalist before the law and could be held to a strict accountability for their acts. They would gain in reputation and influence by this act and would be much less liable to be used by reckless officials to forward their personal ends. Contemplating a strike, the incorporated body of workmen could be compelled to give notice of its intention and could be held responsible for the results as far as the general public is concerned. They should give bonds or be otherwise held to a strict responsibility both for the maintenance of the peace and for damages resulting from their action. Being thus made responsible, compulsory arbitration would then be practicable and work no injustice. A permanent board of arbitration could be created for the settlement of all disputes between capital and labor, and yet labor need not be deprived of the privilege of the strike as a last resort. A board of arbitration cannot settle with justice a question of wages between employer and employee, unless both parties to the issue voluntarily agree to submit to the decision. "Compulsory" arbitration is more or less of a delusion and can only in justice be compulsory to a certain point, but the bad feature of that idea can be eliminated by some such plan as outlined above.

THE COMING ELECTION.

There is as yet no real excitement visible over the coming election for three trustees of the city in April. The Glendale Improvement Association, composed of the most part of residents of Lomita Park and vicinity, have made up their ticket as follows: H. P. Collier, J. R. White, Jr. and O. A. Lane. Mr. Lane is probably not as well known as the other two. He is a member of the library board, a gentleman of education and ability and a believer in the great future of Glendale. It looks as if there might be no representative of the extreme eastern part of town on the board after Mr. Grant retires, unless efforts are made to get Mr. L. E. Brockman, of 425 E. Second street, to run, as successful. Mr. Brockman is a gentleman of ability, but is said to have developed no political aspirations as yet. Mr. J. P. Shropshire, the well known contractor, is also being urged by friends to stand for the position and will probably do so. Should all of these run, it follows, of course that two of them will fail to "get there," which two they may be will only be decided when the votes are counted. Petitions are now being put in circulation. A decision of the courts recently given is to the effect that all signers of petitions must be of the year of 1910. It is probable that the do not object to petition for primary nominations in municipalities voting before the August primaries, but at the same time it will be wise for all signers to be registered first. Petitions must be filed thirty days before the election, which occurs April 11th.

Mr. T. W. Doyle announces that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself as city tax collector and assessor. Mr. Dornley and Mr. Frazer are mentioned as aspirants.

To My Friends and Patients at Glendale:

In leaving Glendale I have arranged with Dr. W. J. Jeter to take charge of my practice here. Dr. Jeter has been associated with me in business during the past two years in Los Angeles, and knowing him as I do, I have no hesitancy in recommending him and would request your patronage for him.

Thanking you, one and all, for your courtesies of the past and assuring you of the same attention and courtesies at the hands of Dr. Jeter as myself, I am truly,

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Rachel M. Sherer of Fourth and Adams streets, gave a dinner party yesterday in honor of the birthday of her sister, Mrs. J. C. Thomas of Highland Park. The table was decorated beautifully with flowers and greenery and laden with delectable viands which were, with attending social features enjoyed by all. Guests present were the following: Mrs. J. C. Thomas, Highland Park; Mrs. E. T. Byram, Glendale; Mrs. S. A. Ayers, Mrs. Bots, and Mrs. N. C. Burch of Tropic, old-time friends of the lady honored and of the hostess.

REMOVAL.

The enterprising manager of the Variety Store, Mr. M. Z. Remsburg, has removed his store across the street into the Watson block in order to have more room for his growing trade. The stock has been greatly enlarged and the new quarters give opportunity for the display of a vast assortment of useful articles.

BORN.

The NEWS should have announced last week the arrival of a little daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell of North Glendale on Sunday morning the 26th of February. The young lady weighed eight and a half pounds when she came and is still a-growing.

THE SCHOOLS

FOURTH STREET GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The Parent-Teacher association held their regular meeting Friday, February 25. Those who were fortunate enough to be present enjoyed a rare musical and literary treat. The following program was rendered: Piano solo, "The Dying Poet," Gottschalk, Miss Adita Wells of Glendale; reading, "The Lost Word," Van Dyke, Miss Strosser of Cammock School; vocal solo, "Sky-lark's Song," Dudley-Buck, Carrie Stone, Mrs. L. Freeman of Los Angeles; piano solo, "Minuet," Paderewski, Miss A. Wells; vocal solo, "Flowers and Fetters," Mrs. Carrie Stone Freeman.

Five new pictures have been added to the collections of art for the school. One more is yet to be selected, "Avenue of Trees," (colored), Holbert, "Spring," Mauve; "St. Gahad," De Cland; "The Evening Prayer," Anonymous; "The Lions," a German lithograph in color.

The school has a new game of volleyball and as soon as a court is arranged the girls will begin work in earnest.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Mrs. Carroll has been compelled to discontinue the cafeteria for a time on account of ill health. The kitchen has been a great convenience and the students regret that it has had to be suspended. At present they are accommodating themselves as best they can. A lunch wagon has taken up its stand in front of the building.

We are pleased to announce that Miss Magowan is improving in health after an attack of typhoid fever. Her work is being conducted by Mrs. Jansen.

The drawing department has purchased material and is now engaged in stenciling curtains for the two drawing rooms. Friday afternoon was the occasion of a Latin play given by the senior class of the high school under the direction of Miss Hood. The manuscript was adapted by the senior Latin class of 1909 from the ancient and called "Nida." The production was presented as it would have been staged in the days of Augustus, each class furnishing the setting for one scene. Music was furnished by the orchestra and mandolin clubs of the high school under Mrs. Gibson and proved a great treat between the acts. A Roman pantomime by sixteen girls was drilled by Miss McLean for the occasion. There were visitors from the Virgil classes of fifteen high schools in the county and their teachers. Orange likewise was represented. The costumes of the stage-folk were designed by the art department and were very effective. Miss Flood and the students won much praise for the clear enunciation of the Latin. Owen Rhodes and Evalyn Uter brought down the house in one scene and won their well-deserved honors in a curtain call. The following is the cast of characters:

Dido.....	Evalyn Uter
Aeneas.....	Owen Rhodes
Anna.....	Lillian Elias
Cupid.....	Baby Rhodes
Barbe.....	Amy Johnson
Venus.....	Luella Moore
Juno.....	Frances Jackson
Iris.....	Emma Pulliam
Mercury.....	Ray Morrow
Illioneus.....	Kenneth Barager
Jarbas.....	James Wells

The universities of California and Stanford have written, commending the idea.

The girls' baseball team has commenced practice. It has not been decided whether Glendale will enter the league or not as this is their first year at the game. Volley ball is proving quite an interesting game and many are getting good practice from it. The game has the advantage of being all overhead and tends to straighten shoulders and broaden the chest.

A piano has been rented for the gymnasium for the rest of the year. It will be of great assistance in the class work as an instrument for marking time is a necessity for rhythmic work.

Two new tennis courts have been authorized by the board, as the old one is no longer available. They will be built of cement and combined with the new walks will add materially to the improvement of the grounds. A new velvet curtain for the stage in the assembly hall improves the interior as well. The board also has authorized the planting of trees and lawn.

Two new students have entered the school this week for special work, bringing the total enrollment to 202. They are Franklin Wright and George Barnes.

A stereopticon lantern is being installed in the science lecture room. The machine is a reflectoscope also, and can be used to show illustrations in books as well as slides. It will be used by all departments.

A telegraph instrument has been placed in the physics room and the class is busy learning the Morse alphabet.

Sacramento, Feb. 26.—The taking of the school census will begin on the 15th day of April by census marshals appointed by boards of school trustees on or before April 1. The census must be taken as it is on the fifteenth day of April. The complete report must be handed to the county superintendent on or before the 10th day of May.

The law provides that census marshals must visit every home and ask questions called for on the official census blank, duly noting the answers. The law now provides that after enumerating the children of the family, the person giving in the census to the marshals must sign a certificate stating that the items and data given are correct. Anyone who fails thus to sign the certificate is held under the new law to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and may be punished by a fine not exceeding $100.

The census marshals will list all children from one to five years and from five years old to seventeen. Children between the ages of five and seventeen years are noted as "census children." This census forms the basis for a portion of the apportionment of school funds, as $550 from state and county funds will be al-

Your Checks are Receipts

"Pay as you go" is an excellent maxim provided you "pay-by-check." It's foolish to carry money on the person. Except for the smallest purchases and incidentals, for aside from the waste and inconvenience there is always the danger of theft or loss.

But with a check-book of this bank in your pocket the inconvenience and worry is eliminated. You write out a check for the exact amount of each purchase, your check-stub is a record for reference and the check itself will later be returned to you by the bank and may be retained as a receipt.

Some persons may think of the check account as being complicated. Nothing could be more simple, however. We keep books for you and there is a record for your every transaction.

The body of a middle-aged man, with a bullet wound in his head, was found near Burbank Thursday morning and brought to the Pulliam Undertaking parlors. There was nothing on the body to identify it and it seems to have been a case of suicide.

GENERAL PUBLIC TAKE NOTICE!

CITY TRUSTEES HAVE UNEVENTFUL MEETING.

Present Messrs. Anderson, Blackburn and Watson.

A long list of demands was presented and referred. Monthly reports of the officials were received and filed. The city attorney reported that the city treasurer's bond was in proper form and was received from the gas inspector requesting that a gas pipe tester be furnished for his use. Referred to supply committee. A resolution was adopted awarding a contract for insulators. The city attorney was instructed to incorporate in the call for municipal election the proposition of allowing the members of the board of trustees a salary of three dollars apiece for every meeting attended; meetings not to exceed one a week.

Report of building inspector for February: Number of permits issued, 24; aggregating a valuation of $16,700.

The financial report of the city treasurer for February shows receipts of $16,056.23, disbursements $5,486.55; balance in treasury, $29,827.66. There is included in the receipts the sum of $14,300 from the sale of electric light bonds and the further sum of $836.18 receipts from electric light department for month of January. The balance in the treasury includes $18,525.31 belonging to the electric light fund and $2,304.27 for principal and interest account, same fund.

April 1-2 has been chosen as the Kirmess dates to be given under the auspices of the Woman's Guild of St. Mark's mission. The entertainment committee will be in charge of Mrs. R. H. Wells, chairman; Miss Mary Loughberry of Los Angeles will have supervision of the folk dances, which bespeaks the success of the affair. A number of the well-known society ladies of Glendale will act as chaperones for the different dances and as patronesses. The music will be in charge of Prof. E. B. Valentine with the Glendale orchestra.

THE UNITED STATES CENSUS.

Who Are To Be Enumerated—The Census Bureau's Instructions to Enumerators on This Point.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19.—The explicit and lengthy printed instructions to the census enumerators, which have been prepared by the United States Census Bureau, give a clear idea of the character of the answers expected from the people of the United States with regard to the questions in the population schedule to be carried in the Decennial Census April 15 next.

All answers are to have reference solely to the "Census Day," which is April 15. Persons living on that day, but who died after it and before the enumerators call, are to be counted, but persons born after April 15 are not to be included in the count. Persons who were single on April 15 are to be reported as single, even though they have married subsequently and before the canvasser has called. This is true, similarly, of persons who became widowed or divorced after April 15.

The census law provides that all persons shall be enumerated at their "usual place of abode" on April 15. This means the place where they may be said to live or belong or the place which is their home. As a rule, the usual place of abode is not the place where a person works or where he eats, but where he regularly sleeps. The enumerators are cautioned, however, that where a man happens to sleep at the time of the enumeration may not be the place where he regularly sleeps.

There will be a number of persons having their usual places of abode in enumeration districts who will be absent April 15. These are to be included and enumerated after the facts regarding them have been obtained from their families, relatives, acquaintances or other persons able to give the information. For instance, if a member of any family in an enumeration district is temporarily away from home on a visit, or on business, or traveling for pleasure, or attending school or college, or sick in a hospital, such absent person is to be enumerated and included with other members of the family. But a son or daughter regularly living in another locality should not be counted with the family at home.

Servants, laborers, or other employees who live with the family, and sleep in the same house or on the premises, should be enumerated with the family.

The Census Bureau states that there will be, on the other hand, a certain number of persons present and perhaps lodging and sleeping in districts at the time of the enumeration who do not have their usual places of abode there. These are not to be enumerated. It must be assumed that they will be enumerated elsewhere. The canvassers should not, therefore, unless it is practically certain that they will not be enumerated anywhere else, enumerate or include with the members of a family they are enumerating any of the following classes:

Persons visiting a family; Transient boarders or lodgers who have some other usual or permanent place of abode; Students or children living or boarding with a family in order to attend some school, college, or other educational institution in the locality but not regarding the place as their home; Persons who take their meals with a family but lodge or sleep elsewhere; Servants, apprentices, or other persons employed by a family and working in the house or on the premises, but not sleeping there; or Any person who was formerly in a family, but who has since become a permanent inmate of an asylum, almshouse, home for the aged, reformatory, prison, or any other institution in which the inmates may remain for long periods of time.

STUCK TO DISCIPLINE.

He Was Willing to Oblige, but Dared to Do His Duty.

Seamen are strict disciplinarians, and a ship's crew seldom even dreams of interpreting a commander's orders otherwise than literally. Of the recognized rigid type was a certain English captain.

One day while his ship was in a certain port this captain gave a dinner to some town acquaintances, and as the resources of the ship were not great some of the sailors were deputed to wait on the table to re-enforce the insufficient number of stewards.

As these men were not used to such work, each one was told exactly what service would fall to his share.

The hour came, and the dinner went merrily on. Presently, however, one of the ladies wanted a piece of bread. There was none near her, and the finely disciplined stewards seemed to be quite blind to her need. She turned her head and spoke softly to the man at her elbow.

HE SALUTED IN FINE NAVAL STYLE.

"Bread, please," she said.

He looked regretfully at the bread and then at her. It was evident that he would fain have helped her if it had been in his power. He saluted in fine naval style.

"Can't do it, ma'am," said he. "I'm told off for taters."

Couldn't Last Long.

A man who was already blessed with one wife, probably in an effort to double his happiness, married another woman, and one of the witnesses to the bigamous ceremony afterward admitted to the officiating clergyman that he had known of the bridegroom's legal inability to wed.

"But if you knew," said the clergyman indignantly, "why didn't you tell me?"

"Well, parson, it was like this," the witness said. "One of the parties was eighty-three and the other eighty-seven. I says to myself: 'Oh, gosh! It can't last long. Let 'em marry and burn the law!'"

His Lamb.

Supping at the Savoy, London's fashionable hotel, after the theater were a man, his wife and a small party. The wife, while a course of lamb chops was being served, spied a friend in the alcove overlooking the Thames and went to speak to her a moment, the two tables not being more than six or seven yards apart.

While the wife stood talking animatedly to her friend the waiter at her husband's table removed his lamb chop before he had finished it. When he noticed this he exclaimed in a loud voice:

"Goodness! Where's my lamb?"

His wife heard him above the noise of the restaurant, and, smiling at him sweetly, she called, while her husband reddened and the other diners giggled:

"Here I am, darling!"

Cheerfulness.

I have fallen into the hands of thieves. What then? They have left me the sun and moon, fire and water, a loving wife and many friends to pity me and some to relieve me. They have not taken away my merry countenance nor my cheerful spirit nor my good conscience.—Jeremy Taylor.

Discouraging.

She had organized a Sunday school class from a lot of tough street gamins, and she was having a hard time of it.

"Come, come," said the teacher, "do you mean to tell me that you can't repeat even one verse?"

"Naw," replied the small boy. "I know one."

"Well, then, let me have it," said the teacher sharply.

"And Judas went out and hanged himself," repeated the unrepentant. His teacher's lips wreathed themselves in a cynical smile as she said: "Very good. And can you give me another?"

"Sure," he replied.

"Let me have it, then," responded his teacher.

The little reprobate said, "Go thou and do likewise."

East and West.

At a convention of advertising men in Louisville one of the delegates who lives in the west told a story of having met a man from New York.

"Where are you from?" inquired the New Yorker.

"Los Angeles," said the man from California.

"Oh, I see!" exclaimed the Empire State inhabitant. "So you're from the west. Well, I've been west some myself. Now, last year I was out as far as Cleveland and stopped awhile at Pittsburg. I was all around out west."

"In that so?" said the man from Los Angeles, with a great show of interest. "Well, I was up east myself, not so very long ago. I was in Denver and Salt Lake City, and all around. It's strange we didn't meet."

When John Brown Wouldn't.

Pol-Mahneur is a favorite cast near Balaclava castle and was always held as the special preserve of John Brown, who was the personal attendant of the late Queen Victoria. John was an enthusiastic and inveterate fisher, and often the fogal larder was indebted to his prowess for its supplies of spring salmon when the rods of the other fishermen failed to bring them to the bank. It is authentically reported among anglers on Deeside that when the queen wanted John he was immediately at her call except when angling, and at such times she would not disturb him. The tacit understanding between them is said to have arisen in the following fashion: Her majesty one day sent an imperative message to the riverside desiring John to immediately wait upon her.

"Tell her majesty," replied John in his usual Doric, "that I am running a salmon and I canna come."

The messenger came back to him in hot haste, saying that the queen desired to see him the very minute.

"Well, tell her majesty this time that I am running a salmon and I winna come." And that settled it.

Albatross and Magpie.

Birds play a great part in good and bad auguries at sea. The albatross is regarded as a harbinger of good fortune and has been immortalized as such by Coleridge in "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner," whereas the magpie is a bad omen.

A friend of Sir Walter Scott, traveling by coach to London, entered into a conversation with a respectable looking seaman, who remarked: "I wish we may have luck in our journey. There's a magpie."

"And why should that be unlucky?"

"I can't tell you that, but all the world agrees one magpie bodes ill luck, two are not so bad, but three are the evil one himself. I never saw three magpies but twice, and once I nearly lost my vessel, and afterward I fell from my horse and was hurt."

Many seamen still believe in water spirits or sprites. In Bohemia the fishermen are afraid to assist a drowning man for fear of giving offense to the water sprite.

Berthollet and Robespierre.

It is said that the celebrated avant Barthollet in the most dangerous times of the republic sustained his fearless love of truth. Some days prior to the ninth Thermidor a sandy deposit was found in a barrel of brandy intended for the army. The contractors, suspected of poisoning, were immediately arrested, and the scaffold was already prepared. Berthollet, however, examined the brandy and reported it free from all adulteration.

"You dare maintain," said Robespierre to him, "that that brandy does not contain poison?"

As his reply Berthollet drank off a glass, saying, "I never drank so much before."

"You have plenty of courage," exclaimed Robespierre.

"I had more when I signed my report," replied the chemist, and here the matter terminated.

Fiddling and Skating.

The celebrated violinist Joachim during a winter residence in northern Germany was in the habit of watching the skaters on a fine piece of water beneath his windows until one day it occurred to him to try the exercise himself. As he had never yet donned a pair of skates he put himself into the hands of a man who provided skates and instruction in the art on the brink of the water and was soon equipped and started on the ice, the master leading his pupil.

Finding no difficulty in keeping his balance under these circumstances, Joachim felt sure he could go alone, desired his leader to leave him and the next minute was sprawling on the ice on his back.

"Ah!" said the teacher triumphantly as he raised his prostrate pupil. "You see it is not quite so easy as playing a fiddle!"

The Bridal Wreath.

The bridal wreath is usually formed of myrtle branches in Germany. It is made of orange blossoms in France as well as in the United States. In Italy and the French cantons of Switzerland it is of white roses. In Spain the flowers of which it is composed are red roses and plums. In the island of Greece vine leaves serve the purpose, and in Bohemia rosemary is employed. In German Switzerland a crown of artificial flowers takes the place of the wreath.

Not the Usual Kind.

"What a fool exercise fencing must be for women!"

"Why so? I always understood it was fine."

"Here Maude Hinks is taking lessons, and she told me yesterday she was learning how to feint!" — Baltimore American.

Where Authority Ends.

"Rogers is a born leader of men. Thousands of them would follow him into the jaws of death."

"Yes, but he can't make his two-year-old boy so much as sit in a chair!" — Harper's Bazar.

A Long Minute.

"I'll be ready in a minute," she said to her husband.

"You needn't hurry now," he called on some time later, "I find that I shall have to shave again." — Detroit Free Press.

No, Indeed.

"You Americans say we 'ave no 'umor," said the loyal Britisher, "but I'll 'ave you understand, sir, that English jokes are not to be laughed at!"

His Perfect English.

"Did you ever notice anything peculiar in Professor W.'s speech?" inquired a friend of the professor's.

"Why, no; I don't think I did."

"Well, he would never be guilty of saying what you said just now."

"He wouldn't? What did I say?"

"You said 'I don't think I did.'"

"Is there anything out of the way about that?"

"Yes. You didn't say what you meant at all. You didn't mean that you didn't think, but that you thought you didn't. Professor W. is so careful that he says exactly what he means and nothing else. You do not mean that you do not think when you say that, but that you do think that such and such is not. Nearly everybody does that, so it sounds queer when people speak as the professor does and say 'I think I don't' instead of 'I don't think I do,' as the average individual would say. Another of the professor's idiosyncrasies is to say 'I'll not' where you or I would say 'I won't.' All those little ways sound queer, but they're absolutely correct and irreproachable. The professor uses more perfect English than any one else I know." — New York Press.

Bribery in English Elections.

Bribery is a term which every candidate for a seat in the imperial assembly dreads, for the law visits offenders against it with very heavy punishment, and more than one politician has realized that the game is not worth the candle.

The would be M. P. must be very careful not to give, lend or promise money or money's worth to induce a selector to vote for him or abstain from voting for an opponent. Neither must he pay the day's wages of any voter or give him money for railway fares or loss of time. If he does and is elected the candidate loses his seat, and both he and the recipient of his ill advised gift are liable to twelve months' imprisonment or a fine not exceeding £200. Even treating the wives or relatives of electors may constitute an offense, and the quantity is immaterial if the intention is corrupt.

The withdrawal of custom from a tradesman, if done with a view to affecting the man's vote, constitutes undue influence, for which the punishment is the same as in the case of bribery. — Pearson's Weekly.

The Australian Stock Whip.

The stock whip in the skillful hands of the Australian is not only an article of the greatest utility, but also a formidable weapon. Owing to its great length—the lash varies from twelve to thirty feet—and the shortness of the butt, which measures only eighteen inches, it is an extremely difficult and awkward thing to wield, and the beginner is apt to hurt himself if he does not exercise care when practicing. A well trained stockman, however, can hit a cent every time at ten paces distance and with the dreaded lash in his hand, cracking like pistol shots, can keep a mob of wild cattle in check. If used with full force it will cut through skin and flesh like a knife, says the Wide World Magazine, but unless a beast shows distinct vice the stockman uses it more for the purpose of instilling fear than of causing pain. It can also be used as a bolas, a Patagonian form of the lasso, and an adept can catch and hold a beast by causing the lash to curl around its legs.

Luck of Peacock Feathers.

The peacock's feathers superstition is nothing like so common as it used to be. Perhaps Whistler's celebrated peacock room helped to break it down. At any rate, peacock's feathers are ordinary enough articles of decoration in many happy and placid homes. There are shops in London that keep large stocks of them, and you may buy these bringers of misfortune at a shilling a bundle. Did the superstition originate because of the reported pride of the peacock on the "pride shall have a fall" theory, or is it that the "eye" of the feather is supposed to see undesirable happenings which somehow get published upon the houseposts? One rather feels that the beautiful tail was nature's compensation to the bird for giving it the most admirable of all voices.—London Chronicle.

An Insinuating Misive.

He was a German student, and this was the letter he addressed to his uncle:

Dear Uncle—A very strange thing happened yesterday. I went to see a friend of mine at the bank who knows your handwriting very well, and he thought you were ill, as I had not lately presented any checks signed by you. He begs to be remembered to you, as also do I, and you might let my friend see your signature again. If you are very busy, you might send a blank check, and I will fill it in. Yours affectionately, KARL.

Unusual.

"Don't you like the book?"

"No. I think the heroine is a most impossible creature."

"Is that so?"

"Yes. She doesn't appear to have a single 'gown of some simple material that enhanced rather than hid her graceful figure!'" — Exchange.

The Worried Manager.

"What's the trouble?" asked the impresario's friend.

"I can't keep my people down to their own lines of work. The print donnas will kick and the ballet won't." — Washington Star.

The Installments.

Yes, He Was Hurt

There had been a barroom fight in a frontier town. One man was frightfully mangled with a bowie knife. The surgeon said that he could not live and described his condition in the technical terms of his profession, telling of injuries to certain cartilages, membranes, and so forth. When he had gone away a friend of the dying man called to inquire if he was really in danger, asking, "Is Jim much hurt?" "Is Jim Joyce hurt?" replied one of the crowd. "Is Jim hurt? Why, man, the doc says that all of the Latin part of his bowels is gone."

Goodby.

We say it for an hour or for years;
We say it smiling, say, it choked with tears;
We say it coldly, say it with a kiss,
And yet we have no other word than this—
"Goodby."

We have no dearer word for our heart's friend,
For him who journeys to the world's far end,
And scorns our soul with going; thus we say
As unto him who steps but o'er the way,
"Goodby."

Alike to those we love and those we hate,
We say no more in parting. At life's gate
To him who passes out beyond earth's sight
We cry, as to the wanderer for a night,
"Goodby."

—Grace Denio Litchfield.

The Risk He Ran.

It was a prohibition country. As soon as the train pulled up a seedy little man with a covered basket on his arm hurried to the open windows of the smoker and exhibited a quart bottle filled with rich dark liquid.

"Want to buy some nice cold tea?" he asked, with just the suspicion of a wink.

Two thirsty looking cattlemen brightened visibly, and each paid a dollar for a bottle.

"Wait until you get out the station before you take a drink," the little man cautioned them. "I don't want to get in trouble."

He found three other customers before the train pulled out, in each case repeating his warning.

"You seem to be doing a pretty good business," remarked a man who had watched it all. "But I don't see why you'd run any more risk of getting in trouble if they took a drink before the train started."

"Ye don't, hey? Well, what them bottles had in 'em, pardner, was real cold tea."

Shocked the Old Gentleman.

Henry E. Dixey, the comedian, while visiting Philadelphia one autumn attended a very aristocratic Thanksgiving ball in Rittenhouse square.

While supper was being served Mr. Dixey ranged himself behind the supper table with the twelve or fifteen waiters busy there. Soon a mild-mannered old gentleman with white hair approached the actor, glass in hand.

"Would you mind filling my glass with champagne, please?" he said.

Mr. Dixey started, drew himself up and said, with a look of horror:

"Certainly not, sir; certainly not. You have already had more than is good for you."

Colored Swedes.

A substantial Swedish merchant of New York city who came to this country when he was a boy told this incident of his early experiences in the metropolis:

"I once started out to call upon a girl I had known in the old country. I was told that she lived at Madison avenue and — street. When I reached that corner I was in doubt which house to try, but I finally went up the steps of one that faced on the avenue and rang the bell. A girl came to the door. 'Does Miss Nelson live here?' I asked as politely as I could.

"I don't know any such person," she answered, and I was turning away when she called after me, 'Is she white?'

"That irritated me. 'Did you ever know any Swedes who were colored?' I asked.

"Well, I have seen some green Swedes," was her retort, and I did not continue the conversation."

The Judge's Advice.

Mr. Choate, having arrived at the old sighted age, did not recognize it or did not wish to commence the use of glasses. In pleading a cause he had difficulty in seeing his notes and in order properly to decipher his manuscript kept holding his paper farther and farther off. On one occasion this so annoyed the judge that he at last burst out with, "Mr. Choate, I would advise you to get one of two things—either a pair of tongs or a pair of spectacles."

He Bit.

An old fellow who made himself conspicuous about a New England church was suspected of tampering with the church collections. A couple of clumsy traps that were set for him failed to work. Then one day a young deacon walked past his house leading a new horse.

"That's a fine horse, deacon," the old fellow shouted. "Did you buy him at the fair?"

"Yes," said the deacon. Then, as the other came nearer, he added: "I bought him with my pickings out of the collection plate."

The old man looked horrified.

"Good gracious!" he said, "I've often taken enough myself to buy a hat or a pair of trousers; but, deacon, in takin' enough to buy a horse ain't ye committin' a positive sin?"

SOMETHING DOING

The Central Christian Sunday school of Glendale is wide-awake, and it is great pleasure to see the eagerness which exists in three of the classes of the Sabbath school. A contest is being run by the Philathea, Earnea and Sister Crawford's class. The class having the most new scholars will be presented with a Bible. The defeated ones will give a banquet for the winners. Our motto is "Get one or more."

PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY LESSONS

Mrs. Annie Rix Millitz of Los Angeles will give the first of a course of six lessons elucidating the fundamental principles of the vital truths of Christianity on Friday, March 4th, and five succeeding Friday nights thereafter, at eight o'clock, at 432 W. Fourth street. All interested are welcome.

Those Hamilton Brown Shoes that Carney sells are giving excellent satisfaction. Have you been in to see them yet?

After the game of baseball in which the Tropic grammar school team won the championship of the valley, Miss May Cornwell, teacher at the Tropic school, gave the members of the team a treat at her home on Kenwood street. It was good to see the youngsters dive into the good thing for they went at them in the same desperate spirit which they employed while beating the local boys, not an hour before.

Miss Winifred Saddinger has accepted a position as stenographer and typewriter in the real estate office of Parker & Sternberg.
